

This inukshuk was carved from a half log of Florida Cypress, finished with a deep burn (charred and brushed) then sprayed with a satin black enamel to give it a "stone" look

24

An inuksuk is a human-made stone landmark or cairn used by the Inuit peoples of the Arctic region of North America. These structures are found from Alaska to Greenland.

This pattern is modeled after the Vancouver, Canada 2010 Winter Olympics Logo.

32

PATTERNS BY

Inuit Inukshuk
12" x 18" Half Log